Objective

I am seeking an entry-level production position. I would like to find a challenging and engaging position that will utilize all of my available skills and talents. I believe I can be a valuable asset to any team and/or company as my previous experiences have prepared me for any situation. I aspire to learn as much as I can through my peers while also sharing my knowledge with those around me. I will not leave a project unless it has been completed, perfected and something that I can be proud of.
